number: R 467

date: 13 April 2021

Decision of the Rector of USB on extraordinary measures in connection with the coronavirus epidemic

Article 1

General provisions

1. The Health and Safety and Fire Protection Administrator (hereinafter as the 'coordinator') is charged with the coordination of all measures concerning the coronavirus epidemic. The coordinator ensures that USB and the Regional Public Health Office mutually exchange information, informs the Regional Public Health Office about arrivals of international students from high-risk areas, is authorised to issue methodological instructions concerning the implementation of individual measures at constituent parts of USB, discusses individual measures concerning the coronavirus with deans of faculties and directors of other constituent parts of USB, informs the USB management about regulations received from the Regional Public Health Office and measures adopted at USB, is authorised to invite other USB experts for cooperation.
2. The organisation of employee testing is governed by the Ordinance of the Rector no. R 465 and related methodological directives of the Bursar.
3. The Head of the Marketing Department, in cooperation with the coordinator, is tasked with ensuring that employees, students and the public are cohesively informed about the measures that are being adopted at USB.
4. The outlined measures arise from the regulations and recommendations of corresponding state bodies. Deans of faculties and directors of constituent parts bear responsibility for the specification of the decision within individual units as per relevant conditions.

Article 2

Matters concerning studies

1. Prospective students, students, educators, examiners, and other persons whose presence is necessary for securing the course of study activities are obliged to follow current regulations and recommendations announced by the Ministry of Health of the Czech Republic and other competent bodies.
2. Deans of faculties shall secure the conditions necessary for following the respective regulations and recommendations.
3. Methodological management when practically applying regulations concerning matters concerning studies is provided by the Vice-Rector for Student Affairs.

Article 3

Matters concerning lifelong learning

1. Participants, educators, examiners, and other persons whose presence is necessary for securing the course of activities of lifelong learning are obliged to follow current regulations and recommendations announced by the Ministry of Health of the Czech Republic and other competent bodies.
2. Deans of faculties and directors of other constituent parts of USB that execute lifelong learning programmes shall secure the conditions necessary for following the respective regulations and recommendations.
3. Methodological management when practically applying regulations concerning matters concerning lifelong learning is provided by the Vice-Rector for Student Affairs.

Article 4

Implementing quarantine measures

1. All students and employees arriving from abroad are obliged to monitor and thoroughly follow Government measures set by relevant ministries. Rules on entering the Czech Republic and detailed instructions for persons arriving from abroad are outlined and regularly updated by the International Relations Department at <https://www.jcu.cz/study-at-usb/degree-students/instructions-for-arrival-during-covid-19-pandemic> and <https://www.jcu.cz/study-at-usb/erasmus/instruction-for-arrival-during-covid-19-pandemic>.
2. Premises, where the person in question is accommodated, will be equipped with private sanitary facilities, an antiviral disinfectant gel and single-use paper towels.
3. Ordering students and employees into quarantine is governed by directives of the coordinator.
4. The Methodological directive concerning setting conditions of quarantine and isolation for employees and students of the University of South Bohemia in České Budějovice (hereinafter as the 'Methodological directive concerning quarantines) applies to all quarantined employees and students or employees and students placed under isolation.
5. Deans of the Faculty of Economics, the Faculty of Education, the Faculty of Fisheries and Protection of Waters, and the Faculty of Agriculture who secure quarantining employees and students in faculty premises shall set conditions for the use of these premises in cooperation with the coordinator.
6. Respective faculties shall assign persons providing care to quarantined employees and students from among employees or students. The activity of persons providing care is governed by directives of the coordinator. Expenses associated with stays of employees or students in quarantine are borne by respective faculties (i.e. accommodation, expenses concerning the person providing care, personal protective gear).

Article 5

Matters concerning internationalisation and international relations

1. International travel on University business and student mobilities are governed by methodological directives of the Vice-Rector for International Relations that practically apply arrangements arising from currently valid regulations of the Government of the Czech Republic and other competent bodies. Caution is emphatically warranted when travelling abroad as well as monitoring conditions and restrictions applied in destinations with regard to the local epidemic situation.

2. Methodological management in practically applying measures in matters concerning internalisation and international relations is provided by the Vice-Rector for International Relations. The International Relations Department of the Rectorate provides methodological management to faculty coordinators concerning the matter.
